During World War II 563 Destroyer Escorts
battled Nazi U-Boats on the North Atlantic protecting convoys of men and supplies.
In the Pacific, they stood first in line to defend naval task forces from Kamikaze attacks.

Today only one remains afloat in America.

Return to 1945
aboard the
USS SLATER.

Step back in time.

See how sailors worked,
hear the sounds of a living ship,
touch a piece of American history,
and walk the decks where
hundreds of sailors have walked before.

This fully-guided tour of the ship takes at least one hour. It will require climbing ladders and walking through tight spaces. We recommend wearing comfortable walking or athletic shoes and casual dress. Large bags and strollers are not permitted on the ship.
